Market today: Positive reaction after FED’s decision

(Lam Nguyen - Ext: 1313)

The US FED’s decision on interest rate came to close to the market expectation. The US stock market as well as oil and gold prices immediately rallied last night. That information also helps to reinforce the recovery trend starting from yesterday session in Vietnam stock market. The VN30 basket under guidance of familiar tickers like BVH, VIC and VNM became pervaded motive to others. At closing, VNIndex was up by 0.38% and closer to 580 point. Market breath widen with 143 green versus 77 red tickers. Regarding to liquidity, while matched volume just slightly increased, the value showed significant changes, which were +1.8% and +16.2% respectively. Foreign investors became net buyer today due to put-through transactions at SBT and EIB.

Tomorrow is the last session for FTSE and VNM ETFs rebalancing their portfolio. As our observation, however, tickers subjecting to be removed/reduced proportion like PPC, SSI, STB, VIC and VCB have not yet sold enough. Thus, it could be a possibility that VNIndex will fail to overcome the 580 point again due to selling pressure from those tickers. Therefore, we preserve our recommendation that investors should not to open new positions if market could not overcome 580 +/- . Instead, corrections would be chances to accumulate more stocks which have been already bought previously to seek for AGM and business result effects.

Analyst Pin-board

Have commodity prices bottomed out and are there signs for strong recovery? YES and NO!

DAILY TECHNICAL ANALYSIS

Recommendations:

The two indexes increased on steady volumes but haven't broken above strong resistances yet. Traders should maintain the stock ratio in portfolios at a reasonable level to be able to adapt quickly to the two scenarios: break out or correction.
