"A Short-term Positive Effects of the CPTPP"

6PM CALL

Market today: A Short-term Positive Effects of the CPTPP

(Thien Bui – Ext: 1321)

After yesterday drop, the index increased again. In the morning session, mid and small-cap shares were still strong but the large-cap stocks quickly returned in the afternoon session. VIC is today's leader as it gained the most (5%) in the VN30 group following by other names like VNM, VRE, PLX. VPB is still the most noticeable one in the banking shares that contributed to today's gain. Other banking shares still faced strong selling forces today. So, the leading sector is Financial (+1.6%) while the laggards are Utilities (-0.4%) and Healthcare (-0.7%)

To sum up, the VNIndex had a good day as it closed higher 1.07%, equivalent to 11.89 pts. The HNXIndex also performed the same with 0.43% of the gain. The volumes on the HSX have stabilized after dropping in February.

It seems like the market is supporting by the CPTPP. The CPTPP mostly affects positively to some sectors such as fishery, textile... The industrial real estate sector can benefit indirectly from CPTPP as more foreign investors will focus in Vietnam, lifting up the demand for industrial lands. However, these sectors contributed quite limited to the total market cap of the VNIndex. Moreover, shares of fishery and textile did reflect the effect of CPTPP (or TPP as it was) over the last two years. On the other hand, sectors that have large market cap such as banking, real estate (residential), F&B with big names like VNM, SAB, MSN... tend to immune from this agreement.

Currently, the market is still moving sideways. CPTPP may have a short-term effect but as we stated above, we do not make a big bet on the positive effect of the agreement on the market movement. Rising volumes in a rising market shows that investors are getting more confident. However, we would point out that the VN30 Index (and also the VNIndex has made a double top at current levels. Hence it may take some time before it breaks out of that range.

Technical Analysis Recommendation

Indexes kept moving sideways in narrow range. Although the indexes went up, the trading volumes decreased remarkably. The may correction may last longer and traders should maintain a balanced portfolio of cash and stocks and wait for more signals. A break out (up or down) may come soon in next sessions.
