Market today: The conservative cash flow

(Phuong Nguyen – phuong.nh@vdsc.com.vn)

The market is still stuck in its uptrend and broke out in the week's first session. Although there were many fluctuations and shaking during the session, VN-Index still maintained a high level. VN-Index earned +8.26 points (+0.55%) and closed at 1,524.7 points. Liquidity decreased compared to the previous session, with 734.6 million shares matched on HOSE.

The VN30 suffered a better session than the general market. However, profit-taking pressure was stronger at the end of the session. VN30-Index ended the session by losing points and closing only +5.57 points (+0.36%). In the group, there were 17 advancers and 10 decliners. GVR was the strongest gainer with an increase of +5.6%, followed by SSI (+4.9%), NVL (+4.7%), GAS (+2.5%), MSN (2.4%)... In contrast, the biggest losers were KDH (-1.5%), FPT (-1.5%), TCB (-1.3%), HDB (-1.2%), MBB (-0.9%)...

Cash flow continued to circulate in the market. It showed signs of being distributed to sectors that had not prospered in the previous sessions—notably, the Securities group when many stocks hit the ceiling. The Oil and Gas group also witnessed a remarkable soar. However, Banking and Real Estate groups showed signs of cooling down, and even cash flow was rekindling profit-taking, especially in Real Estate.

Foreign investors were slightly net sellers on HOSE today with a value of VND 4 billion. In which VNM was bought the most with VND +121.3 billion, followed by FUEVFNVD (+80 billion), DGC (+53.3 billion), SSI (+46.8 billion), GMD (+39 billion)... On the other side, they net sold HPG (-73.8 billion), NLG (-66 billion), E1VFN30 (-47.4 billion), NVL (-33 billion), FUESSVFL (-25.6 billion) ...

The market remained to rally inertia, but the uptrend slowed down at 1,530 points for VN-Index and near 1,560 points for VN30-Index. The liquidity decreased compared to the previous session, showing that the cash flow is cautious when the market hits the resistance area, but the selling pressure is temporarily not high. With the conservative cash flow movement, the market's backward rhythm may continue in the next trading session. However, the short-term trend of the VN-Index and VN30-Index is still in a good state, so it is expected that the cash flow will regain when the market retreats to the support area, the area of 1,515 points for the VN-Index and 1,535 points for VN30-Index. Therefore, investors can consider adjusting prices to disburse in some stocks with active accumulation background. However, we still should be careful with high-risk stocks.

Technical Analyst Recommendations

The rally of the market has been slowing down because the cash flow was cautious in front of the resistance zone. The selling pressure may continue, but VN-Index will be supported at the range of 1,515 – 1,520 points. Therefore, investors can consider to buy some stocks with active accumulation background. However, it should be careful with high risk stocks.
